

Towards Socially Responsive Graduates: being and becoming a Health Professional

by Prof. dr. Susan van Schalkwyk, Director of the Centre for Health Professions Education at Stellenbosch University

Harmen Tiddens Educational Grand Lecture

Program May 30th program
Yellow Lecture Hall UMC Utrecht and live stream

14.30	Coffee and tea
14.45	Welcome and introduction to the program prof. dr. Freek Hoebeek
15.00	Harmen Tiddens Educational Grand Lecture prof. dr. Susan van Schalkwyk Followed by discussion with the audience
16.30	Awarding the Harmen Tiddens Honorary Medal
17.00	Drinks

Join to discuss:

What do you think is important in today's educational context to ensure students graduate as socially responsive health professionals?

How has your own learning challenged your perspectives and worldview?

How transformative learning can ensure a health care workforce that can respond to global needs?

Program May 31st program
Maliebaanmaal UMC Utrecht

09.45	Coffee and tea
10.00	Navigating social responsiveness: implications for teachers Workshop to explore what it takes to navigate and contribute to responsive and contextually relevant health professions curricula from a teacher perspective. with guidance of prof. dr. Susan van Schalkwyk and dr. Judith van de Kamp
12.00	Lunch break
13.00	'Once upon a time'... Using storytelling to capture the essence of one's research Workshop on Academic Writing for researchers, students and teachers who have completed at least one research project they want to write about with guidance of prof. dr. Susan van Schalkwyk
15.00	Closure

Actual information, live stream link and to register see website

Harmen Tiddens Society for Dedicated Educators

UMC Utrecht

